

Family Scribes is a multi-generational game where relatives and close friends play a part in remembering stories and capturing them in writing!

"This game has great activities to reminisce about the great times that you have with your family. It's a good way to keep people's memories flowing and strong."

Adirya Esaw, granddaughter

"Family Scribes brought memories of my biological dad and longings for more of my family history."

Derc Montgomery, adult son

"We loved it! I am glad that the the three generations of us participated. It's a wonderful idea and a great activity for any gathering to share and document memories and forgotten stories AND have fun in the process."

Helene Reese, grandmother

Family Scribes is not a game of competition; it's a memory-stimulating series of timed-writing activities that culminate in storytelling. Everyone who participates wins!

Four reasons to play Family Scribes

1 Personal writing, which is the main activity of Family Scribes, is medically-proven to improve health and well being!

2 Producing and reading Family Scribes stories to fellow game players is a fun way to develop writing and presentation skills.

3 Playing Family Scribes encourages family bonding and fosters multi-generational communication.

4 Family Scribes activities encourage concentration and reflective thinking.

Linda Jones, writer, editor and workshop coordinator, provides professional services as The Writing Doula.

thewritingdoula.com

Author: Linda Jones Designed by Q. Ragsdale

Format: 8.5x11 Paperback

Pages: 34

Price: $14.95

ISBN: 0974164534

Contact: linda@thewritingdoula.com (214) 803-3920

Also Available as an eBook